

Farnaz Amin is Head Worldwide Business Development for Carbon Free Grid, AWS Energy & Utilities. Farnaz works closely with customers and partners to develop and execute AWS strategy to enable utilities solve challenges associated with decarbonization and decentralization. She is working to deliver solutions to help integrate Renewables, Distributed Energy Resources, Electric Vehicles into the grid and works closely with Sustainability and Decarbonization solution teams. Farnaz has over 15 years of product management and commercial leadership experience across the Energy industry from Oil & Gas to Power generation, Transmission and Distribution (T&D). In her role prior to AWS, Farnaz was Global Product Leader for Grid Analytics business in GE Digital working with T&D utilities in their digital transformation. She holds a Bachelors in Electrical Engineering and an MBA.