

Joy co-leads Palantir's Utilities practice, helping clients use Foundry across their value chain, powering workflows from emergency operations to customer notifications to EV expansion. Before joining Palantir in 2018, Joy led a research group in experimental cosmology at UCLA, building telescopes to understand the origin of the universe. She holds a PhD in Physics from Columbia university.