

Luca Lo Presti is an Executive Partner at IBM Consulting with 20+ years of experience in Energy & Utilities Industry.

He is graduated in Electronics Engineering in Rome Università La Sapienza with specialization on Radar images and started his carrier as consultant with focus on Asset Maintenance processes. In IBM has driven multiple transformational projects for several multinational clients within Energy & Utilities and Automotive. After these significant project experiences, he continued his carrier path with increasing Business Development responsibilities within Energy & Utilities Industry supporting clients in their path toward Digital Transformation.

His expertise covers the overall Energy & Utilities value chain with a focus on how AI, Data and Cloud can help organizations to transform their processes and create value across the entire value chain.

Starting from 2022 Luca Lo Presti has been appointed as Sustainability Leader for Market Italy and his responsibility is now focused on Consulting Services and Solutions that can help organizations to accelerate the achievement of their Sustainability / Net Zero Targets.