

Marcus Voss is an AI Expert and Intelligence Architect at Birds on Mars, where he works on AI applications for sustainable use cases. He is an external lecturer on AI and data science at TU Berlin and CODE University of Applied Sciences. Previously, Marcus Voss was a Research Associate at TU Berlin, where he led the research group "Smart Energy Systems" at the DAI Lab. He is active as Community Lead for the building and transportation sector at Climate Change AI, an international initiative that brings together stakeholders around AI and climate change.